Summary:

Get ready for an unforgettable Andean adventure day that starts bright and early with a 3 a.m. pickup from your hotel in Cusco. The stunning scenery and experiences that await make the early start worthwhile.

Our journey takes us on a three and a half hour drive in a private van, where traditional villages and the breathtaking Andean landscape are on full display. At the starting point of the trail, a delicious breakfast will be prepared by our skilled trekking chef to provide energy for the upcoming hike.

The hike from Pampachiri is a challenging uphill trek of approximately two and a half hours, starting at an elevation of 3,700 m/12,139 ft. The trail offers breathtaking views of the Andes, glacial peaks, red mountains, rocky hills, and traditional llamas and alpacas grazing along the valley.

The highlight of the day is reaching the famous Rainbow Mountain. Upon arrival at the top, the view of the valleys and the majestic Ausangate Glacier Peak, which is the tallest mountain in the Cusco region at just under 21,000 ft, is inspiring. While taking in the stunning scenery, your guide will provide interesting information about the composition of the mountains and the origins of their rainbow of colors. To make things even better, hot drinks will be served to keep you cozy at this high elevation.

The descent takes approximately two hours, and a freshly made hot lunch will be waiting at the end to refuel everyone. After lunch, you will have a chance to interact with the locals and learn more about their culture and way of life.
After a day of adventure, it's time to start making our way back to Pampachiri village to catch the private van back to Cusco. Expect to arrive at your hotel around 5 p.m., tired but with hearts full of unforgettable memories from a day filled with adventure in the Andes.
